Hixson Promotes Spangler, Adds Mack

(CINCINNATI; September 23, 2011) – Hixson, a Cincinnati-based architecture, engineering and interior design firm, announced today that Matthew Spangler has been promoted and that Lyndal Mack has joined the firm.

Matthew Spangler, LEED AP, has been promoted to Project Leader at Hixson. In this role, Spangler is responsible for designing projects for Hixson’s national clients. A Hixson associate since 2004, Spangler holds a Master of Architecture and a B.S. in Architecture from the University of Cincinnati and resides in Bridgetown.

Lyndal Mack joins Hixson as a Process Engineer in the firm’s Process Engineering department. In this position, Mack is responsible for developing and engineering processing solutions, producing construction drawings and specifications, and supporting field construction for Hixson’s food processing clients. Mack, who graduated from the University of Utah with a B.S. in Chemical Engineering, resides in Milford, Ohio.
